WEDNESDAY IS DATE SET FOR DEPARTURE OF MEN TO OREGON

THIRTY-TWO MEN FROM THIS DISTRICT WILL LEAVE AT TEN-FORTY WEDNESDAY MORNING OVER ST. PAUL ROAD.

TO GATHER AT SPARTA

Entire Bunch of Three Hundred and One Wisconsin Men Will Depart From Sparta on Special Train Late That Afternoon.

After a delay of many days the call for the Rock county boys who are to be sent to Fort Stevens, Oregon, has been issued. Notices were mailed out this morning to the men whose names are given below, ordering them to report at four o'clock on Tuesday, April 2, at the office of the local board, to receive instructions. The number of men who are to be sent to the western camp is thirty-two, but notices were mailed to several more than that number for the reason that orders have been given out by Crowder to postpone the calling of men actively and additionally engaged in the planting of crops. As several of those listed below are known to live on farms they are given the privilege of putting in a claim for temporary exemption, which it is safe to say will be allowed in all cases.

An elaborate railroad schedule has been prepared for the movement of the Wisconsin contingents. Forty-five men from Beloit will arrive in the early Wednesday morning, as will also an increment from Burlington. These men will unite with Janesville's thirty-two and the entire number will leave at ten-forty Wednesday morning for Madison, via the St. Paul road. From Madison they will proceed to Portage and thence to Sparta, where the entire group of three hundred and one men from Wisconsin will gather. They will board a special train at Sparta late that afternoon and will arrive in St. Paul that night. From St. Paul the trip will be made directly to the Northern Pacific to Spokane, thence to Portland, to Port Stevens. The date set for the arrival at Port Stevens is Saturday, April 6, at one o'clock. Full railroad accommodations will be provided and meals will be served on the train.

The movement of the thirty-two Rock county boys from the Janesville district and the forty-five from Burlington and the forty-five from the city of Rock county. It is the first time since the departure of the national guard companies for Mexico that so large a number of Rock county's sons has left at one time for such a great distance.

What branch of the service the boys will enter is unknown. Port Stevens is a regular army post located in the northwest corner of Oregon, on the Pacific coast, just at the mouth of the Columbia river. Before the war it was used as a training camp for the training of men for the coast artillery, but it is probable that it has been transformed into a regular army training camp similar to Camp Grant.

The list of men from which thirty-two will be selected as this district's quota, follows:

WHEAT FLOUR SALES LIMITED BY RULING

Consumers in City May Purchase Only One-Half Sack at a Time While Rural Trade Is Restricted to One Sack.

Repeated requests to cut down the wheat rationing have prompted County Board Administrator P. L. Commons to issue an order changing the amount of wheat flour which consumers may purchase at one time. For some time the ruling has been that a person living in the country might buy two sacks or one-half barrel of flour at a time, while a city consumer was limited to one sack or one-fourth of a barrel. Under the new ruling Mr. Commons orders that sales to city consumers shall be restricted to one-half a sack or one-eighth barrel, while to rural trade the limit of a whole sack shall be one sack or one-fourth of a barrel.

Several changes have been made on the food price bulletin in the past few days. The price on potatoes has been lowered as has also the price of butter.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT. Written and publication authorized by the Dry Janesville Campaign Committee and to be paid for by them at the rate of 50c per inch.

Strengthen America "Food will win the war"

It hits you in the face wherever you go—this slogan of the Hoover campaign for food conservation—"food will win the war!"

When the Senate's Committee on Agriculture was investigating the subject of foodstuffs, the liquor men denied that they consumed as much as the prohibitionists said they did—they declared that they used only one per cent. of the grain.

All right—let's take them at their word.

One per cent. of the grain will feed one per cent. of the people. This means one million people—because there are one hundred million of us in this country.

We shall probably send one million soldiers to France.

This means that the liquor men have been wasting enough foodstuffs to feed every last man who will go to the trenches!

If food will win the war—as Hoover says—then the liquor men have a fearful responsibility resting upon them when they deliberately waste the food which would give life and strength to our soldiers.

But what about the man whose vote gives the liquor men the right to do this?

Every vote for the "drys" will help save the soldiers at the front.

Have you a boy "over there"? Is he worth saving? Then vote "dry".

If you believe that the traffic in Alcohol does more harm than good—help stop it!

Tom Marshall Says All Republicans Are Disloyal Unless They Vote for Davies

READ WHAT HE SAID AT MADISON:

"I come to Wisconsin to find if 100,000 republicans will not count the loss of partisanship cheap if thereby Wisconsin may be saved to the union," said the vice-president.

"Your state of Wisconsin is under suspicion. You republicans have made the issue here in Wisconsin. If the vote at the primary is based upon the charges and counter-charges you have made each against the other, you are each against America, half for the Kaiser and all against Wilson. Your self-appointed leaders are now trying to convince the loyal half that the really important thing is not loyalty or disloyalty, but party success.

"Having purified the stream in the primary you welcome the sewage to help you over the election. I think there are large numbers of you who will not want to rest under such a suspicion. You will find yourself in the attitude of many democrats in the north during the republican ticket rather than nest under the odium of the statement of Horace Greeley that he did not say all democrats were horse-thieves, but that he did say all horse-thieves were democrats.

"Would Be Traitors."

"It makes no difference how pure and patriotic the purposes of the republican candidate may be, to be elected he is now bidding for the vote of the German sympathizer, the traitor, the seditionist, the pacifist, the man so hidebound in politics he rejoices at every mistake made by the president or his advisors, the man who is willing to make an inglorious peace, the disloyal, the man who is willing to appointed profiteers and our who wanted our citizens and our ships to stay off the high seas and an embargo placed upon the sale of munitions of war, in the markets of the world."

Reply of Representative Lenroot at Dodgeville:

In the desperate attempt to make this a Democratic War instead of an American War, Vice-President Marshall has been sent into the state to insult our citizenship and attack the loyalty of the Republican party. He said in his Madison speech Tuesday night that "to save Wisconsin to the Union, Mr. Davies must be elected." This slander upon the people of Wisconsin should be resented by every loyal citizen regardless of party. Wisconsin is loyal and the Republican party of the State is loyal. In subscriptions to Liberty Loans, in subscriptions to patriotic funds, in organizing the state for war activities, the Republicans of Wisconsin challenge comparison with Democrats. Republicans of Wisconsin are patriotically supporting the war, and now to insult them as Vice-President Marshall does, is monstrous.

What Lenroot Said in Congress, May 12, 1917

(From Congressional Record)

"We are not considering politics. Republicans in assisting the President may give him another term, may mean his reelection. But anything that President Wilson can do, and any glory that he can secure in winning this war, we Republicans are glad to give him, and to assist him."

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Margaret Carson, who returned to her home in Evansville, Ind., after spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. David Drummond, Terrace street, and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Walter and daughter, Betty Francis, left this morning for Chicago, where they will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Walter for several days.

M. J. Brennan of Milwaukee, formerly of this city, spent a few hours in the city on Friday on business.

Forre Gifford of Milton, who is attending the United Officers' Training Camp at Camp Grant, spent a few hours in the city today visiting friends.

Miss Mary Connolly, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. S. Rooney, of 410 South Bluff street, the past few months, returned to her home in Grand Rapids, Mich., this morning.

Bakers Want Flour.

Manitowish, March 29.—An appeal for flour has been made by bakers of this city to the war military board at Chicago. The supply of wheat flour in this city is practically exhausted and bakers are considering plans for obtaining bread. Shipments of flour ordered many weeks ago have not been received and wholesalers and grocers are also experiencing a shortage.

TWO HUNDRED FIFTY PEOPLE PRESENT TO BID BOYS FAREWELL

Large Crowds Gather at St. Paul Depot to See Contingent of Twelve Rock County Boys Depart for Camp Grant.

Two hundred and fifty people gathered at the St. Paul depot this morning to bid farewell to the contingent of twelve Rock county boys who left for Camp Grant at ten forty. The majority of those who witnessed the departure of the boys were relatives and friends of them, while a few were there who, although not knowing any of those leaving for camp, wanted to pay them the honor due by being present.

The boys all seemed to be in good spirits and boarded the train with the Burlington men, who also were a joyful lot.

The twelve men reported at ten o'clock this morning at the office of the local board, where they were given their badges. At ten twenty they were taken to the depot by Sheriff Whipple and A. E. Matheson, of the local board. Practically all of them carried baggage, although they were advised not to by the board. At Beloit fifteen men were picked up and the train pulled in at Camp Grant at twelve forty-five this noon.

As it was found when the boys reported yesterday afternoon that a mistake had been made by the medical advisory board in the examination of William McCallum, it was deemed necessary to substitute Julius Fure, of Moline, formerly of this city, in his place. This was the only change made, the rest of the boys being Don McLaughlin, Thomas Sloan, William James Viney, Orville Rasmussen and Reuben Pember, all of Janesville; Chris Hanson and Arthur Schulz, both of Edgerton; Ralph Holliday and Claude W. Gifford, both of Milton; Stanley Brink and Ralph Tomlin, both of Evansville. Claude Gifford was placed in charge of the contingent.

Around The State

Spy Sentenced.
Rhinelander, Wis., March 29.—William Toepfer, arrested here last December on a disorderly charge, together with that of being a German spy, will be interned near Atlanta, Ga., for the balance of the war period. He was found guilty of being a spy.

Workman Killed.
Athens, March 29.—Joseph Lewandowski, a flier in a sawmill here, was killed almost instantly when a steam pipe on the boiler burst. He was thrown back and broken and he was taken to the hospital, where he died.

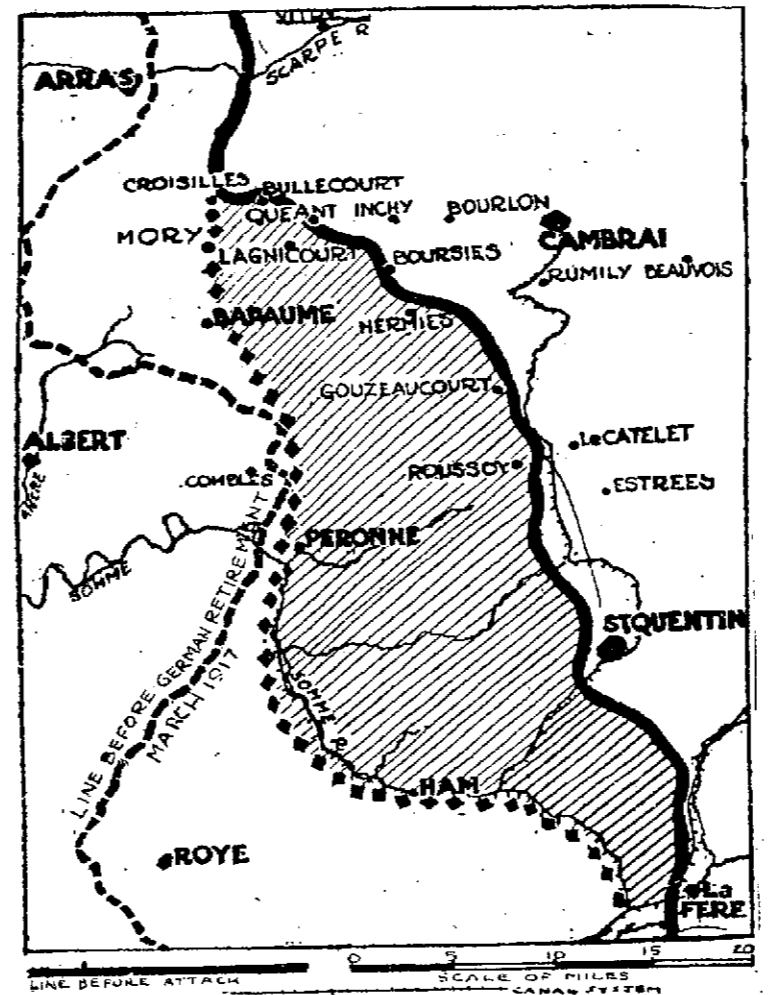

To Reclaim Gift.
Racine, March 29.—Because property donated many years ago by the city as the site for a manufacturing plant is no longer used for that purpose, the municipality will endeavor to reclaim it. The land, which was donated originally to Thomas Falvey, and on which a large factory was built for the manufacture of farm machinery, is now said to be worth $25,000. After the Falvey concern discontinued operations the factory was used by a wagon company, but that company has also gone out of business.

Soldier Dies.
Neenah, Wis., March 29.—John Lempe, 22, a member of Company I, 1st Infantry, is dead, according to a message received Wednesday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lempe. The war department dispatch did not give any particulars.

Sentences Were Tiresome.
Dowser.—There goes Judge Wardleigh. In addition to his being a fine jurist, he has the reputation of being a master of the English language. Bowser—"That may be, but I don't like his sentences; they are too long. It took me six months to get to the end of one of them."

GERMANS IN BIG DRIVE REGAIN MUCH OF GROUND LOST LAST YEAR

HOG CHOLERA CASE SETTLED BY JUDGE

Judge Grimm and Parties to Hog Cholera Damage Case Reach Agreeable Settlement Out of Court.

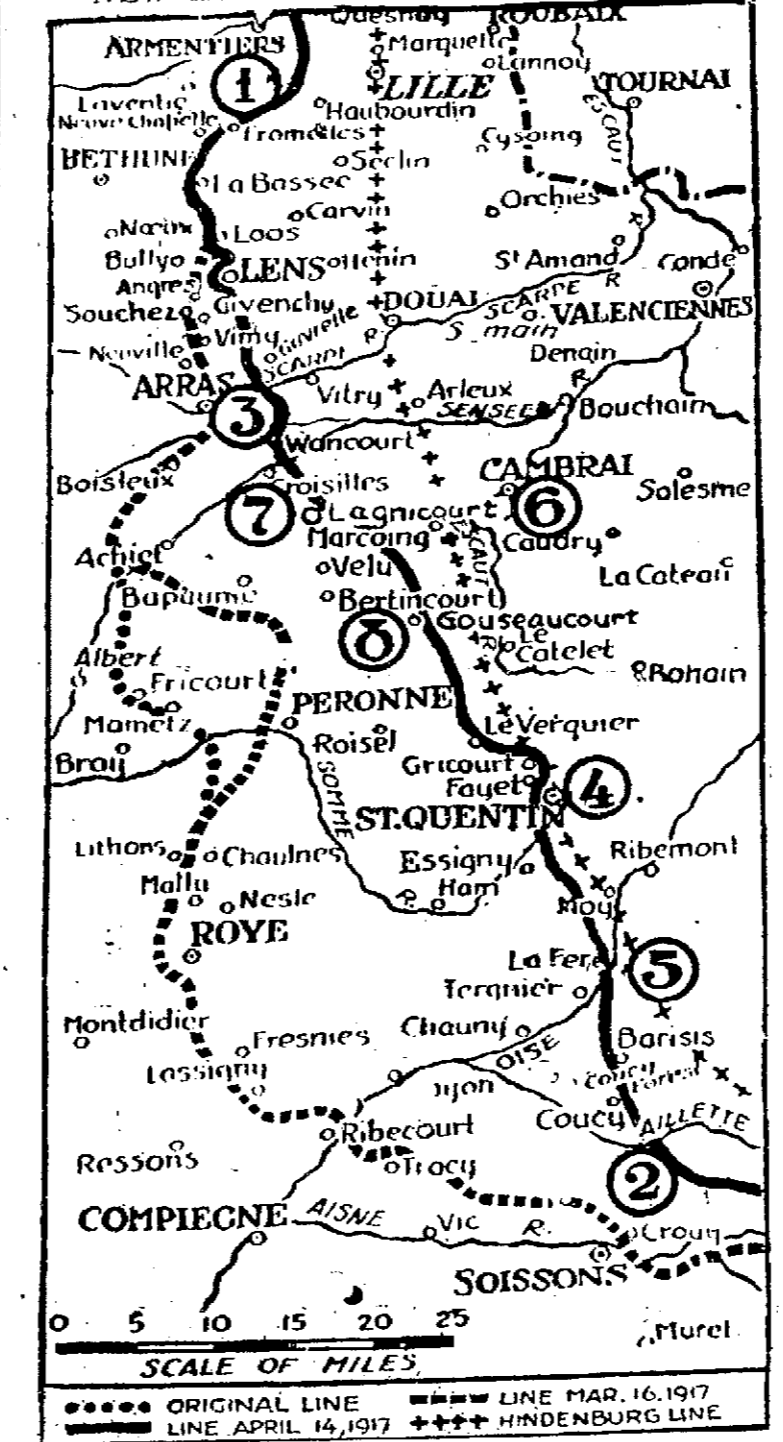

After a controversy which lasted one hour Judge Grimm and the parties to the hog cholera damage suit, Associated Farmers company vs. Fred Wobig, emerged from behind closed doors late yesterday afternoon with the announcement that the case had been settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. Yesterday before calling the case, Judge Grimm predicted that it would take two days to complete the testimony and the settlement made out of court came as a complete surprise to the many farmers from Clinton who were present in the court room to hear what they thought was going to be a hotly contested case. The terms of the settlement were not made public. With the settling of the case out of court, the parties were saved money as well as the time and Judge Grimm and the lawyers in the case are to be commended upon reaching an agreement.

The judge left last night for his home in Jefferson, no cases being listed on the calendar for today or tomorrow. He will return Monday to hear the case of Davis vs. Kent, which will be tried before a jury.

The Daily Novelette

THE FLUTED EDGE.
"How little do we realize the resources of our own land," mused Professor Diogenes Blunderdudgeon, proving profoundly in the shrubbery of his garden. "Now I would be willing to wager my very best Macedonian zinkus or the finest Phoenician tympanum I possess that remains of great interest may be found in the soil of the Americas." Learnedly plunging his spade into the soil of his backyard, Professor Blunderdudgeon turned up the earth, and inside of five minutes had discovered the valuable remains of a bone, buried the day before by his dog. Scorning this as irrelevant he delved once more. Suddenly he flung the spade aside, seized a handful of earth and danced with excitement. "Thalassa! Thalassa!" he shouted classically. "I have found it. This undoubtedly is a coin of ancient mint, genuine Roman, julep of the sixteenth century, B. C."

Rushing to the house, he seized the telephone and communicated with his friend and neighbor, Dr. Jason Blimbunkus. "G. I. M. I. Within an incredibly short space of time the two scientific heads were bent over the mouldering coin. "Blunderdudgeon, you have found it," exclaimed Dr. Blimbunkus, delightedly. "You have made it possible for us to prove that the ancient Roman schooners landed upon this coast, not exhibiting scuturum, as the classic phrase has it. "Is it not?" agreed Professor Blunderdudgeon. "I am now positive that the origin of this country were the most spirited in the ancient world, bar none. Note the fluted edge." At this moment young Jack Blunderdudgeon, the professor's son, entered the study. Seizing the coin he clutched it wildly, and fell on his knees before his father. "Don't give me away, Dad," he begged. "Don't tell mother. I've got her bottle case buried all over the place, but if you keep it dark I'll be a better boy." An Professor Blunderdudgeon never revealed his son's secret.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work of quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects. All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without gripping, or any disagreeable effects. Dr. E. J. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound, mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

WASH THE KIDNEYS!

All the blood in the body passes thru the kidneys every few minutes. This is why the kidneys play such an important role in health or disease. By some mysterious process the kidney selects what ought to come out of the blood and takes it out. If the kidneys are not good-workmen and become congested—poisons accumulate and we suffer from backache, headache, lumbago, rheumatism or gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed at night. So it is that Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., advises "Washing the Kidneys" by drinking six to eight glasses of water between meals and then if you want to take a harmless medicine that will clear the channels and cure the annoying symptoms, go to your druggist and get Auric (double strength), for 60c. This "Auric," which is so many times more potent than lithia—will drive out the uric acid poisons and make the kidneys and channels in a soothing liquid. If you desire, write for free medical advice and send sample of water for free examination. Experience has taught Doctor Pierce that "Auric" is a most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar. Send Dr. Pierce 10c. for trial package.

Cap'n Warren's Wards

By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN. Copyright, 1911, D. Appleton & Co.

"I—We did have an appointment with Mr. Sylvester," Mrs. Dunn admitted reluctantly, "but the business was not important. And," haughtily, "I do not care to discuss it here." The captain opened his eyes. "Hey?" he exclaimed. "Not important? 'Twas about the real size of your father's estate, Caroline," turning to the girl. "I thought Mrs. Dunn and Mr. Malcolm must think 'twas important, for I understand they've been telephoning and asking for appointments for the last two days. As to discussing it here," he went on with bland innocence, "why, we're all family folks, same as I said, and there ain't any secrets between us on that subject. Heave ahead, Mr. Sylvester."

Caroline, crimson with mortification, protested indignantly. "Mr. Sylvester," she said, "it is not necessary to—"

"Excuse me"—her uncle's tone was sharper and more stern—"I think it is. Go on, Sylvester."

The lawyer looked far from comfortable, but he spoke at once and to the point.

"I should have told you and your son just this, Mrs. Dunn," he said. "I intended it before, and Miss Warren had already written you the essential facts. A new and unexpected development, the nature of which I am not at liberty to disclose now or later, makes Abijah Warren's estate absolutely bankrupt—not only that, but many thousand dollars in debt. His heirs are left penniless."

It was blunt, beyond doubt. Even Captain Elisha winced at the word "penniless." Caroline, swaying, put a hand on the table to steady herself. "Thank you, Mr. Sylvester," said the captain quietly. "I'll see you again in a few moments."

The lawyer bowed and left the room, evidently glad to escape. Captain Elisha turned to Mrs. Dunn. "And now, ma'am," he observed, "that part of the business is over. My niece is a poor girl. She needs some body to support her and look out for her. She's got that somebody, we're all thankful to say. She's engaged to—"

"You got my letter?" she cried. Mr. Malcolm here. I understand from Steve that Malcolm's been mighty anxious to have the wedding day hurried along. I can't say as I blame him. And I think the sooner they're married the better. Now, how soon can we make it, Mrs. Dunn?"

Caroline gazed at her guardian in horrified amazement. "Why?" she cried. "You—you—What do you mean by such—"

"Don't be an idiot, Caro," cut in her brother. "I told you to be sensible. Captain Warren's dead right." "Steve, you stay out of this." There was no misunderstanding the captain's tone. "When I wait your opinion I'll ask for it. And, Caroline, I want you to stay out too. This is my trick at this wheel. Mrs. Dunn, what d'you say? Never mind the young folks. You and me know that marriage is business, same as everything else. How soon can we have the wedding?" Mrs. Dunn had apparently nothing to say to him. She addressed her next remark to Caroline.

"I don't consider it your business," he declared. "You're butting in where—" "No, no, I ain't. It's my business, and business is just what it is. There's a business contract between you and my niece. We want to know how soon it can be carried out, that's all." The young man looked desperately at the door, but the captain's broad shoulders blocked the way toward it. He hesitated, and then, with a shrug of his shoulders, surrendered. "How can I marry?" he demanded sullenly. "Confound it! My salary isn't large enough to pay my own way decently."

"Malcolm!" cried his mother warningly. "Well, mater, what the devil's the use of all this? You know—By Jove, you ought to!"

"Hold on, young feller! I don't understand. Your wages ain't large enough, you say? What do you mean? You was goin' to be married, wasn't you? Caroline, don't you say a word. You say—you—addressing Malcolm—" "that you can't support a wife on your wages. You could scrape along, couldn't you? Hey? Couldn't you?"

Malcolm's answer was another scornful shrug. "You belong on Cape Cod," he sneered. "Mater, let's get out of this."

"Wait! Put it plain now. Do I understand that you cal'late to break the engagement because my niece has lost her money? Is that it?"

"This is ridiculous," Mrs. Dunn proclaimed. "Every sane person knows, though barbarians may not—with a venomous glare at the captain "that in engagements of the kind in which my son has shared a certain amount of—"

—financial—er—that is, the bride is supposed to have some money. It is expected. Of course it is! Love in a cottage is well, a bit passe. My son and I pity your niece from the bottom of our hearts, but—there! Under the circumstances, the whole affair becomes impossible. Caroline, my dear, I'm dreadfully sorry, dreadfully! I love you like my own child. And poor Malcolm will be heartbroken—but—you see."

Stephen, who had been fuming and repressing his rage with difficulty during the scene, leaped forward with brandished fist. "By gad!" he shouted. "Mal Dunn, you cad!"

His uncle pushed him back with a sweep of his arm.

"Steve," he ordered, "I'm runnin' this ship." He gave a quick glance at his niece and then added, speaking rapidly and addressing the head of the Dunn family: "I see, ma'am. Yes, yes, I see. Well, you've forgot one thing, I guess. If there's nothin' in marriage but business, then an engagement is what I just called it, a business contract, and it can't be broke without the consent of both sides. You wanted Caroline's money; maybe she wants yours now. If she does, and there's such a thing as law, why, perhaps she can get it."

"That's the talk!" cried Stephen exultingly. "Stop!" Caroline cried wildly. "Oh, stop! Do you think—do you suppose I would marry him now—now, after I've seen what he is? Oh," with a shudder of disgust, "when I think what I might have done—I—Thank God that the money has gone! I'm glad I'm poor! I'm glad I never want to see him or think of him again. Please, please let me go! Oh, take me home!"

"My heart!" she said, gasping. club, I guess, or somewhere. Anyhow I won't stay with her. I told her so. Silly little idiot! I'll never speak to her again. I told her so. She—" "Here! Belay! Stop! Who are you talking about?" "Caro, of course. She—" "You've run off and left her alone—tonight? Where is she?" "Upstairs—and crying, I suppose. She doesn't do anything else. It's all she's good for. Selfish, romantic!" "He got no further, for Captain Elisha sent him reeling with a push and ran to the elevator.

"Eighth floor," he commanded. The door of the apartment was not latched. Stephen, in his rage and hurry, had neglected such trifles. The captain entered it quietly and walked in. He opened the library. Caroline was lying on the couch, her head buried in the pillows.

"Caroline, dearie," he faltered, "forgive me for comin' here, won't you? I had to come. I couldn't rest, thinkin' of you alone in your trouble. I know you must feel harder than ever toward me for this afternoon's doin's, but I meant it for the best. I had to show you—don't you see? Won't you try to forgive the old feller that loves you more'n all the world? Won't you try?" "I forgive you?" she repeated incredulously.

"Waiter," said the indignant customer, "what does this mean? Yesterday I was served for the same price with a piece of chicken twice the size of this."

"Yes, sir," answered the waiter.

"Where did you sit?"

"Over by the window."

"Then that accounts for it. We always give people who sit by the window large portions. It's an advertisement!"

Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian, is known to be a man of rather economical habits. He owns an estate in Scotland, and one day invited two Scotch friends of his to go fishing, and it was agreed that the first to catch a fish should stand treats at the inn.

As Lauder was known to be an expert fisherman his friends took considerable delight in assuring him that he had as good as lost already. "And do you know," said Lauder, "telling about it afterward, 'both of the fellows I went fishing with had a good bite, but they were so mean that they wouldn't pull in.'"

"Then you lost?"

"Oh, no," said Lauder, "I didn't put any bait on my hook."

Richard was playing with a toy machine. His mother heard an unusual commotion and hurried to the room. On entering she found poor Pete, his doll, with a broken head. In reply to her questions as to what had happened to Pete, Richard only shook his head and mumbled each time: "Richie, ruffneck."

ON A TREADMILL

BY ALAN HINSDALE.

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

I am one of the Americans of the first expeditionary force that went to France to fight the central powers to be captured. It was a night reconnoitering force of Germans who killed several young fellows and took a few as prisoners. We were marched away to the rear and put under a temporary guard.

Being Americans, the officer in command did not know what to do with us. Whether we would be treated more rigorously than troops of other nationalities I didn't know, but I believed we would. So I made up my mind to escape before we were taken to Germany, or to get shot trying to do so.

Having been recently captured, we were not as strictly watched as doubtless would be later on. But what helped me was the bursting of a shell from the American lines very near us and our guards. Several of the guards were killed and two of our fellows were wounded. I took advantage of the confusion to walk away to the rear.

I had not gone 50 yards before I came to the dead body of a German. I dropped beside him, and under cover of the darkness—there were only such lights as appear at night in war—I appropriated his helmet and by dint of hard labor managed to get off his coat. As soon as I had put on both, I got up and walked slowly rearward.

Hundreds of shells were falling all about me, and for other reasons perhaps I was not noticed. My trousers were very dirty and might have belonged to a soldier of any nationality. The German coat and helmet I wore were all the disguise I needed. I picked up a rifle lying on the ground and now and again turned and fired a shot in the direction of the American lines. I was once stopped by an officer, but before he could question me, he saw something or someone else that drew his attention from me, and I gave him the slip.

I made my way rearwards where the troops were not so thick as at the front, and though I worked my way without knowing where the reserve lay, I had the good luck to get into a region where there were no troops. I came presently to a little stream on which was a mill. I heard the tramp of men coming. I would have gone into the mill to hide, but it was locked. So instead I got onto the mill wheel and my weight let me down to the bottom of a walled space wherein the wheel revolved.

In a few minutes I heard a column of men marching by and the word of command by the officers. It was where they would not see me; nevertheless I hid under the wheel. After they had passed and the thud of their shoes was dying away in the distance I concluded to move on, seeking for some French family which had not been turned out of house and home, who would hide me until I could get back to my command. Naturally I took hold of the wheel and was about to step on one of the buckets, when it occurred to me that it would turn and let me down as far as I ascended. A glance about showed me that I was imprudent. I could not escape by the wheel, and I could not climb a perpendicular wall.

What there was to grind I knew not; perhaps the miller was obliged to work for the Germans; at any rate just before day came I heard sounds above, something shifted, and down came the water. It had been turned into the flume, and pouring on the wheel, began to rotate it. When the water rose to my waist I began to do a treadmill act on the wheel. I climbed as the wheel turned to avoid being drowned.

I said to myself that between drowning and going to a concentration camp I'd rather drown. I kept on with my endless climb, feeling pretty well discouraged at the poor prospect ahead of me. I believed that the mill was used by the Germans, and if this were so I might better cease to tread and go back into a watery grave. When death is far away we don't dread it; when it is right before us, or behind us, it is with us, we shrink from it. I was about to take my chances by calling to the miller, when looking up I saw the sweet face of a little girl looking down upon me.

"Mon Dieu!" I heard her exclaim, and she disappeared. In a few minutes I heard a shifting above, and the water ceasing to flow, the wheel stopped turning. Then came a woman and the girl I had seen; I climbed out; when I said "Americaine" they hurried me into the house near the mill where they hid me.

They had secured a little grain and were grinding it for their own use before day, hoping to evade the Germans of that hour.

It was the first American soldier they had seen; indeed they did not know that there were any American soldiers in France. They were overjoyed when I told them that there were thousands, and more coming every day. There was but little in their larder, but what there was they offered me. I had not been long without food, and refused to accept anything but a piece of coarse bread.

That day there was more fighting, and as the fire drew nearer, we hoped we would be within the allied lines. During the afternoon our wish was gratified, and I was again with my companions.

SAVE TREES FROM THE TUSOCK MOTH

By P. G. HOLDEN.

THE tussock moth is one of the most destructive pests that injure trees in all parts of the United States, but it can readily be controlled if all will co-operate in its destruction. For this reason improvement associations and individuals are urged to wage a continual warfare against the moth, destroying it when found in any of its forms.

When the larva of this insect is fully developed it is a small but beautiful caterpillar, easily recognized by its bright red head and velvety black back, bordered with yellowish stripes. Four conspicuous tufts grow straight upward on the back, near the head; two long black, pencil-like plumes extend forward from the head, at an angle from each other, and a single one extends backward and upward from the rear of the body.

Section of Tree Showing Three Stages in Life of Tussock Moth—the Caterpillar, Cocoon and Egg Mass—All Three Forms Should Be Brushed Off and Destroyed.

Without wings. Soon after emerging from the pupa stage the female crawls over her cocoon and, after mating, deposits her eggs on the empty cocoon. The eggs remain dormant during the winter and hatch during the latter part of May or in June.

Destroy Larva; Burn Eggs.

Many insects prey upon the caterpillars and our native birds feed upon the young larvae. But if the larvae are destroyed at this season of the year and the egg masses burned later in the fall, much will be accomplished toward getting rid of the pest. The larvae can be destroyed by crushing the cocoons with a stick or a long pole. This is one of the most simple and economical methods of combating the pest.

Another easy and simple method of destroying large numbers of the moth is to place a strip of cotton batting entirely around the trunk of the tree. When the caterpillars, in crawling up the tree, reach the cotton batting, they generally select it as a good place to spin their cocoons. There they remain and their cocoons are hatched. When the cotton batting is filled with the insects, their cocoons, or even their young, it may be removed and burned and another strip put in its place.

"Tree dopes" and "cure-alls" should be avoided. Gummed paper, placed about the trunk of a tree, neither catches the caterpillar nor prevents it from spinning its cocoon below the paper or above it.

Spraying is not essential to the growth and development of the tree, and as it is not always efficient should not be resorted to unless conditions become serious.

Being Sure of Heaven.

I would rather be a poor beggar's wife and be sure of heaven, than queen of all the world and stand in doubt thereof by reason of my own consent.—Catherine of Aragon.

Dies of Injuries.

Sheboygan, Wis., March 29.—Arthur Backhaus, 21 years old, died at his home in the town of Auburn, near here, from the result of injuries received when his arm caught in the flywheel of a motor on a farm at New Prospect.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:

We are to vote whether or not we wish a "wet" or "dry" city. We can not do better than listen to the words of Bishop Paul P. Rhode of the Roman Catholic church, bishop of Green Bay, where a dry campaign is now on. "The years of my priestly activity have largely been devoted to the welfare of the laboring classes, and I have come to know the part which the liquor traffic plays in the life of our communities. "Let the people of the state make formal answer, whether they will continue to pay the bill run up by booze in our courts of justice, in our hospitals, asylums and reformatories, and in the accidents occurring in our factories, oftentimes as a direct result of liquor, all just for the sake of a questionable pleasure; or whether, in the name of a universal moral and material progress of society, they be not willing to put an end to that which is the most prolific source of misery, crime and corruption. I am confident that the people can be trusted to give the proper answer."

CITIZEN.

To the voters in Janesville:

I see by the Gazette you are to vote next Tuesday on the question of license or no license; my advice is that you have trifled with that terrible monster long enough. Vote for a bigger and better Janesville; vote it dry; hit Old Barleycorn such a smash in the jaw that he will be counted forever; bury him in an open grave, and when we get the devilish old Kaiser we will have him brought to Janesville and placed in the same grave, and we can say amen, a good job well done. Educating the Filipinos.

Under the rule of the United States more than 8,000,000 natives of the Philippines have had some instruction in the English language and more of them speak and write it than any other tongue.

Value of Nation's Own History.

There is nothing that solidifies and strengthens a nation like reading of the nation's own history, whether that history is recorded in books or embodied in customs, institutions and monuments.—Joseph Anderson.

Killed by Saw.

Fond du Lac, Wis., March 29.—George W. Wagner, 13 years old, son of Clerk of Courts Henry J. Wagner, was killed when he slipped and fell against a rapidly revolving circular saw cutting timber. The boy was almost cut in two, but lived for a half hour.

THE SOLDIER'S FANCY.

Somewhere knee deep in Flanders' mud,
A sentry keeps his post.
Nearby a tree begins to bud,
A cannon makes its boast.
A primrose dons its colored coat
And smiles to greet the lad.
For now the war seems far remote
And all the world is glad.
The sentry sees no cruel foe,
Nor hears the shell that screams,
For spring has set his blood aglow
And he is lost in dreams.

For every ugly scene has changed
To one of beauty rare.
The very ground where death has ranged
Is now a pathway fair.
The cloudless acres of the skies
Remind him of the blue
The blue that's in his sweetheart's eyes.
The sunbeams dancing through
Are but the golden strands that made
The crown upon her brown,
For spring her ancient trick has played.
Upon the soldier now.

Yes, spring has swept the war away
And brought the love days near,
And once again the sentry may
The sound of laughter hear.
His dreams have brought across the miles
Of ocean that divide
A maiden radiant with smiles
And placed her at his side.
Though all is war below, above,
His heart is still unburned.
Tis spring, and now to thoughts of love,
His fancy has been turned.

WHY IS IT

That in drawing a comic fight picture or auto accident, the cartoonist always shows the victim hitting the ground with his face as well covered with court plaster as though he had just left the hospital!

A blackbird's hiding somewhere near,
Trace forty-eight and he'll appear.

CHILDREN NEED FOOD—NOT ALCOHOL

How careless it is to accept alcoholic medicine for children when everybody knows that their whole health and growth depends upon correct nourishment. If your children are pale, listless, underweight or puny, they absolutely need the special, concentrated food that only gives, to improve their nutrition and repair waste caused by youthful activity. During school term all children should be given Scott's Emulsion because it benefits their blood, sharpens their appetite and rebuilds their strength by sheer force of its great nourishing power.

WATER CONTINUES TO DECREASE RAPIDLY

Rock river is rapidly receding and at the present rate it will be normal again in a few days. The water has fallen fully an inch since Thursday evening and reports received from Jefferson, Port Atkinson and Indian Ford show that the water is on the decline.

Many of the basements are still covered with several feet of water and many of the office buildings are without heat, but if the water continues to decline it will only be a day or two before the flood can be started again.
